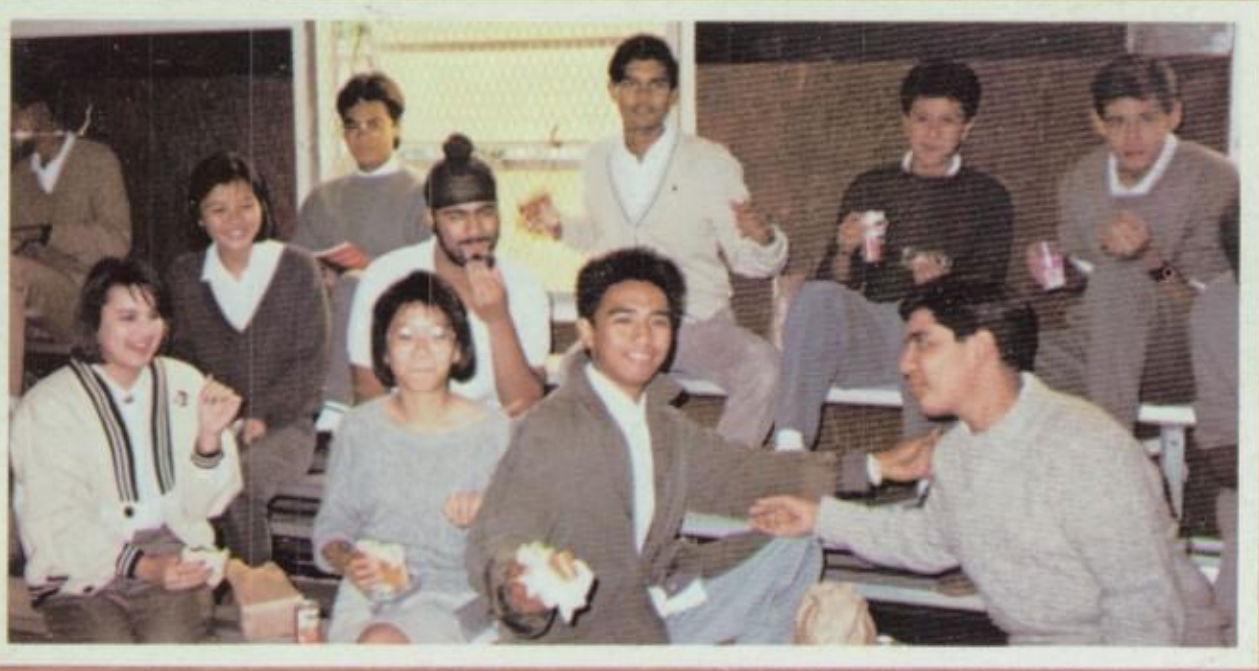
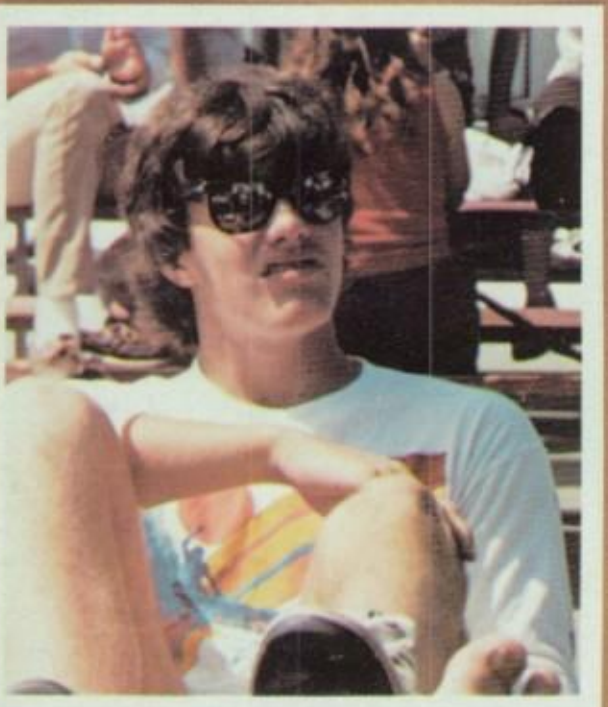
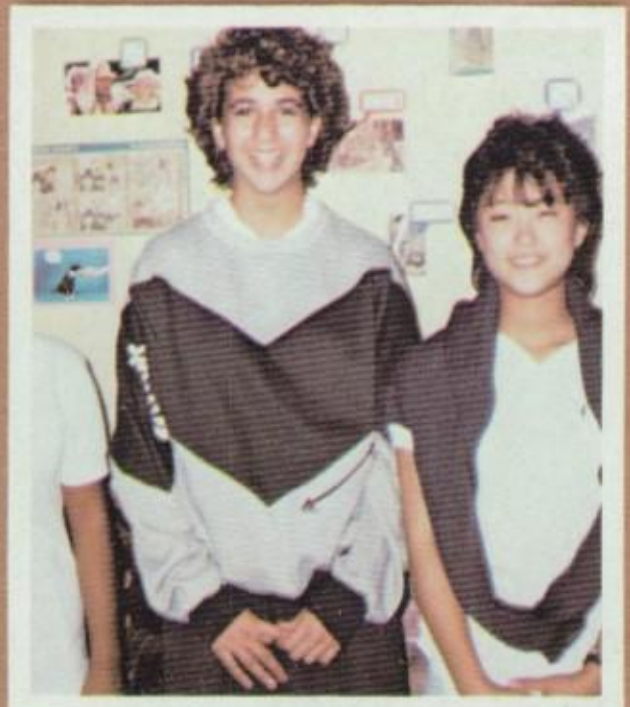
United We Stand







The publications staff of the 1985-1986 yearbook has chosen to dedicate this yearbook to the entire student body, because the students are what make Lawrence Academy special.

Our small size allows each individual many opportunities to become an important part of the school through creative participation. Each student may have the experience of belonging to special groups such as drama or Campus Ministry, or may choose to form other groups that represent their individual interests.

Because of our school's size, Lawrence Academy students build close friendships and each has the opportunity to develop a strong character in a supportive and caring environment. There are no hard lines drawn between the grades, and many students belong to a close group of friends that includes individuals from various grade levels.

Without the unique and warm relationships that help to make us strong, Lawrence Academy would be just another high school. Thanks to all of you—the students—for making us exceptional.

New Beginnings

The opening of the 1985-86 school year realized many changes for Lawrence Academy. It saw the installation of Father Mitchell as the second pastor of the St. Lawrence parish. It also saw the first few meetings of the Mentor Program, created to narrow the gap between students and faculty. In addition, September brought a successful mixer to round up old friends who in turn made new ones. The first assembly of the year was held to introduce new faculty members. With all of this, the first month of the new year closed.

All Are One

The class of 1986 came of age this year. The seniors were a talented group of people. They were cheerleaders, singers, future writers, and architects. The seniors were leaders. They were involved in many activities, ASB, athletics, and Campus Ministry to name a few. They stood out academically as members of the California Scholarship Federation and the National Honor Society. The seniors never hesitated to put forth their best at all times.

Although the class of 1986 was a tightly-woven group of individuals, they always welcomed new additions to their class, and many seniors were also good friends of underclassmen. The seniors were united within the school as well as within their class.

Most importantly, the seniors were bonded in spirit. They matured quite a lot in the years they spent together, and developed lasting friendships. The qualities they radiated provided a shining example for succeeding classmen to follow. With a promising future ahead of them, most planned to attend college. As excellent achievers of Lawrence Academy, we are sure the class of 1986 will go on to take part in making this world a better one in which to live.

That's What Friends Are For
—Rod Stewart

I never thought I could feel this way, and as far as I'm concerned
I'm glad I've got a chance to say that I do believe I love you
And if I should ever go away, well then close your eyes and try
To feel the way we do today, and then if you can remember
Keep smiling, keep shining
Knowing you can always count on me for sure
That's what friends are for
For the good times and the bad times
I'll be on your side forevermore
That's what friends are for
And now—though you've heard it all before, well I tell you one more time
So I can be completely sure, so you know how much I love you
And if I should ever go away, well then close your eyes and try
To feel the way we do this day, and then if we can remember
Keep smiling, keep shining
Knowing you can always count on me for sure
That's what friends are for
For the good times and the bad times
I'll be on your side forevermore
That's what friends are for

Excellence That Endures

This year's senior officers were hard at work on the senior dance, the mixer, various fundraisers, and preparing for graduation. All the officers worked together with the seniors to make it their best year ever. President Jeanette Wilcox showed much enthusiasm, saying, "The spirit and unity within our class is what makes it so awesome." Vice-president Deborah Pairis agreed: "I think we can work together and make this a great year." All senior officers had the same high hopes for the class of '86.

Las Vegas Nite

Since the seniors have been at Lawrence the longest, they are traditionally entrusted with putting on the first dance of the year.

The class of '86 put on a gala event in true Las Vegas fashion. The Vegas theme came across by way of decorations, bright lights, and music provided by Music Masters. Hanging dice, roulette wheels, and giant cards created a casino atmosphere.

The effect of passing through the door into a Las Vegas casino was carried out very well. The evening was very successful, and everyone who attended thought it was a night to remember.

JUNIOR OFFICERS—Hardworking and dedicated

The 1985-86 junior officers were very hardworking individuals, determined and capable. They worked well together as a team. Junior class president Delia Gallagher led fellow officers Katrinna Guevarra, Suhail Khan, and Kathy Stevenson throughout the year, relating to the students' needs and enabling the junior class to reach its full potential.

Through participation in the Halloween party and in Homecoming activities, the junior officers showed their class had spirit. When asked about their goal for the class of 1987, junior officers said that they hoped to unify the class while maintaining the group's exciting individuality.

THE CLASS OF 1987—Diverse and dynamic

Participating in cheerleading, songgirls, fundraising, and sports, the 1985-86 junior class was definitely one to be reckoned with. Though known for their "cliques," the junior class had a strong unity not often seen in groups of their size.

Though quiet towards the beginning of the school year, the junior class got louder and more spirited as the year progressed. They joined in LA activities with enthusiasm.

Junior class president Delia Gallagher remarked, "Our class is different than most. We have diversity. We have different types of people who work together as a team."

SOPHOMORE OFFICERS—

Organized and spirited

The sophomore class of 1985-86 was led by an outstanding team of officers. With Erin Fletcher as class president, Sharon Gallagher as vice-president, Leah Raniel as secretary, and Kathy Dydynski as treasurer, the sophomore class was well-organized and involved. The officers showed great enthusiasm and spirit in whatever they did, most notably their contributions to the Sadie Hawkins dance in November, the Halloween competition, which they won, and the biology camp which they attended.

THE CLASS OF 1988-
Warm and caring

The sophomore class of 1985-86 demonstrated what friendship and fun truly mean. They all shared a common love for their class as well as for their individual friends. The school spirit that came from this caring was tremendous, as was shown by their active participation in school activities and fundraisers.

The sophomores were involved in a wide variety of activities which ranged from Student Council, cheerleading and songgirls, NHS and CSF, to the Block Club.

With their strong bonds of friendship and class support, the class of '88 showed they could survive the first year "on the record" for future colleges, no matter how much laughter that involved. This class will be remembered for their smiles and kind words.

The 1985-86 freshman officers were ably led by president Emmy Rallapalli, and vice-president Matt Andrijasevich, secretary Helen Liu, and treasurer Jennifer Reyling all tried to bring in bright and new ideas to their class and their school. They worked hard to meet their class' expectations. Emmy Rallapalli expressed the belief that, "If we work as one, things can only get better." Howard Jones couldn't have said it better!

The class of '89 worked hard on candy sales and pulled together to organize a successful "Welcome Dance" in May. A group of outstanding individuals, freshman officers helped the class of '89 stay strong.

THE CLASS OF 1989—
Optimistic and enthusiastic

This year's freshmen were a group of very spirited students. They were involved in many school activities. Throughout the year they showed a great deal of enthusiasm for social and charitable events. They participated in the Halloween festivities, freely giving their time to benefit the community.

Summing up the class of '89's spirit, Carol Moran said, "Even though we're now on the bottom, we'll help each other to the top."

The whole freshman class was looking forward to their high school years at Lawrence. This group of individuals is a tightly knit family. They care a lot about each other and give support to those who may need it. Lawrence Academy has a class to be proud of in the class of '89.

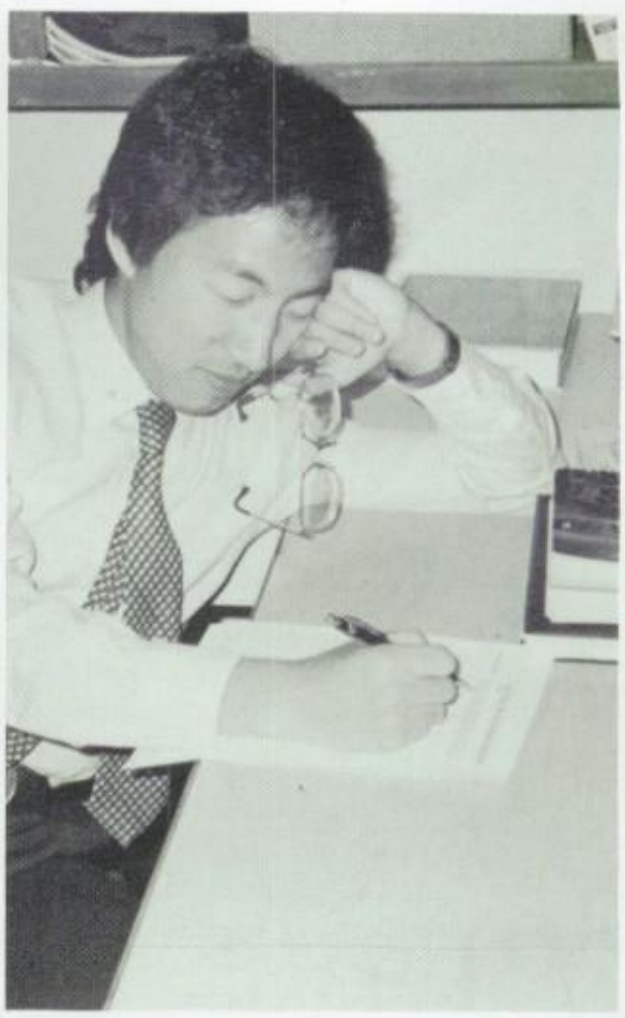
CELTIC



SPIRIT

Alive and Kicking

The 1985-86 school year was a very exciting one at Lawrence, with many old traditions kept alive or improved upon, and many new trends begun.

The year started off with a Welcome Mixer put on by the ASB in September. The seniors put on Las Vegas Night, the first dance of the year.

Halloween rolled around, and Campus Ministry and ASB were hard at work putting on LA's second annual Halloween Party for the community. This year's party was a greater success than last year's.

Then came the Sadie Hawkins Dance in November, a successful Homecoming program in December, and the juniors' traditional Valentine's Dance.

Spirit and enthusiasm blossomed this year at Lawrence, with fun for all.

Becoming the Best

The 1985-86 school year was an enormously successful one for sports at Lawrence. The school had a soccer team for the first time in its history, and led by David Haselden, the team had a respectable 5 win, 6 loss, and 2 tie record. The basketball team reached new heights, led by high-scoring Geoff Helfer, who averaged over 15 points per game. Outstanding contributions by Marlon Manalo, Miguel Casas, and other talented members of the team made this season a memorable one. The Celtic team finished with a 7 win, 5 loss record. Also attempting a new start, the cross-country team, led by John Myung and Aleksandar Marinshaw, got off on the right foot, but despite their efforts, the team never competed because of a lack of participants. Maybe next year!

Sports at Lawrence is growing every year, and special thanks go out to Rob Friedrich, athletic director, for promoting school spirit in all sports.

Reach for the Sky

The 1985-86 year was a spectacular one for Celtic girls' sports. The volleyball team had a winning season, which paved the way for the rest, basketball, soccer, and softball following soon after. The basketball team ran the other teams off the court, ending with a 10-7 season. The new additions to the soccer team turned out to be very successful on the field, and the season ended with Lawrence on top. All in all, the Celtic girls showed spirit and enthusiasm, and helped the sports program at Lawrence to expand and flourish.

Cheer and

The 1985-86 cheerleaders had a great year, attending cheerleading camp where they won the award for excellence, and participating in the National Cheerleading Association competition, where they took second place. With spirit, enthusiasm, and hard work, they took it to the top.

Song!

This year's songgirl squad, led by captain Loren Esposo and co-captain Florizel Capanang, really boosted the school's spirit. They cheered on the teams and danced on the sidelines to a wide variety of energetic music. They showed enormous talent and enthusiasm in supporting the school through performances and through fundraisers and a successful homecoming.

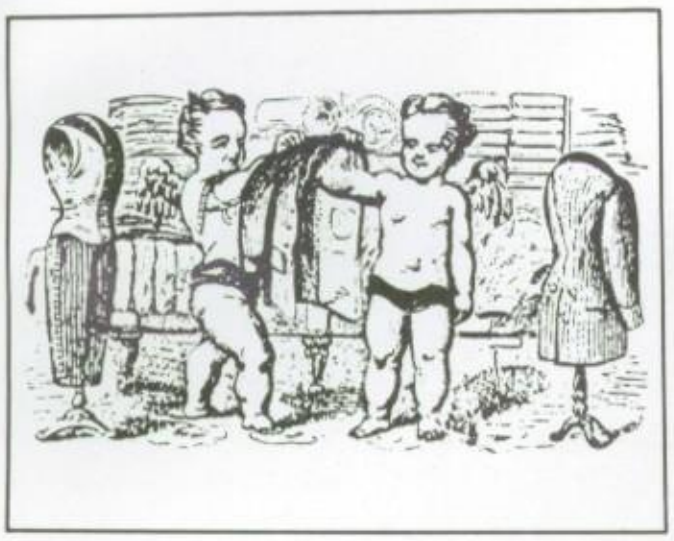
Academy Awards



Every year at Lawrence, the continuing saga of the Academy Awards unfolds. The categories vary from year to year, although such stand-bys as "Most Memorable" will always remain. Nominations are enthusiastically made, ballots are counted, winners announced, and photos are taken to ensure the winners a worthy spot in Lawrence Academy's history. Congratulations to all 1985-86 winners! You can count yourselves among the famous.

Ring in the New

The annual junior ring ceremony was held on December 6, 1985, and turned out to be a beautiful event which brought the junior class even closer together. The receiving of the rings established the junior class's unity while symbolizing everlasting friendship. It also meant an important step into adulthood.

A warm reception prepared by the seniors awaited the juniors in the gym after the ceremony. The aura of happiness was shared by students, friends, parents, and teachers.

A Spirited Homecoming

Lawrence Academy's second Homecoming was a great success, with the level of student participation even stronger than last year. The spirit of Homecoming was bottled into an energetic class competition, with the winning class accumulating the most points in float, hall decoration, and class skit competitions.

The week's events rounded out with a mighty crowd of Celtic fans cheering on their team in a close 41 to 43 game, and a successful dance put on by the cheerleaders and songgirls which included the crowning of the queen and her court.

SPIRIT

We the People

This year's junior high student council gained class unity while they worked towards improvements. The council was led by new teachers Miss McCrea and Mrs. Mansheim, and they helped guide the council through needed fundraisers, such as bake sales, which helped finance field trips and eighth grade graduation. The council pushed for uniform changes, longer dances, and free dress every Thursday. Their real achievement of the year was the Christmas Dance, which raised money and spirits.

The year proved to be a challenge for council members, but as Kristi Tan commented, "Thanks to our unity and spirit, we all made this year the best!"

Best of the Rest

The eighth grade class started this year with continuity and stamina. They proved to the high school that they know how to get things done with their successful Christmas Dance. Their involvement in Student Council, sports, and cheerleading has been great. Their enthusiasm is a real contribution to the school.

Miss McCrea and Mrs. Nolan were advisors to the class of 1990, and they had plenty of pride in their group, and confidence in their abilities. The eighth grade—fun and spirited!

On Their Way To The Top

This year's seventh grade started the 1985-86 school year with a bang. Vicki Jewell and Dana Silva led their class, and Dana had this to say about the group: "We are one big family, and we have grown really close by sharing a lot of fun times."

With enthusiasm and high spirits, this class was not at all shy. Vicki Winning called the class "terrific," and the seventh graders proved it. The entire class took on the challenge of coming up through the ranks, even though they were sometimes dragged through the mill by overenthusiastic upperclassmen. Their strength and unity helped them succeed by holding them together.

Spartans Act Up!

The Spartans had another great year as far as showing their spirit and super enthusiasm in activities. They had two very successful dances, beginning with the Christmas Dance in December. A Saint Patrick's Dance followed in March, and both activities had seventh and eighth graders in a festive mood.

The junior high school were active participants in all school activities, giving their time and energy to the Halloween party and haunted house. They also threw themselves into a spirited Homecoming week, dressing western-style and wearing school colors and other costumes and hats. The Spartans had an active student government, where they planned future activities and were enthusiastic fundraisers.

Spirited Spartans

The 1985-1986 junior high cheerleaders did very well this year. They competed at the National Cheerleaders Association competition and came home with a white ribbon. They were a very spirited and cheerful squad. They also brought home many blue ribbons from cheerleading camp. Many people liked their extraordinary performances during our school rallies. This year's cheerleaders had a lot of spirit and character.

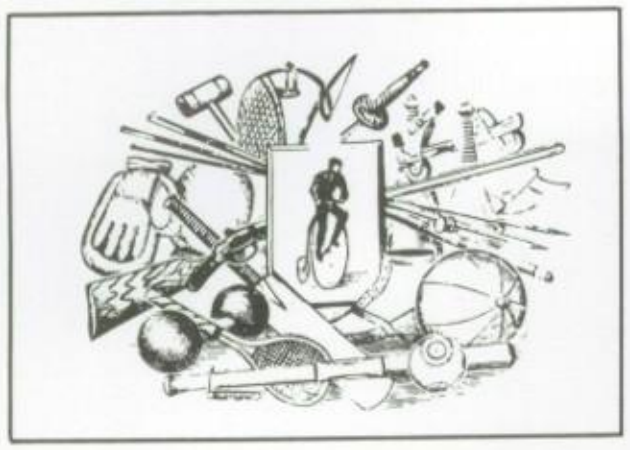
Going for it!



The Spartans had a spirited year, learning and growing through each season.

The boys' "combined grade" flag football team ended with a 0-6-1 record, voting Ricky Jewell most improved player and Alonford Robinson MVP.

In basketball, the eighth grade boys were off to a slow start but showed great potential, led by Anthony McGuire and Louie Felizardo. The seventh graders showed great improvement on the court, led by Ricky Jewell, but had a 0-4 record at season's end.

With enthusiasm and talent, Spartans showed themselves a group to be proud of.

Superb Spartans!

The Spartans girls shone throughout the year with spirited enthusiasm.

The eight grade girls' volleyball team ended the season with a 3-5 record. Most valuable player was Eve Margozzi, while Charissa Riddle was voted most improved. Wendy Bounds was also recognized as an outstanding player.

The seventh grade girls' volleyball team ended with a 2-8 record, although many of the lost matches were close. Co-MVP's were Brandy Miller and Kim Hartwig.

In basketball, the eighth grade was led by Lisa Murgallis and Tara Lee, ending the season with a 4-6 record. The seventh graders, although winless, were led by Kim Hartwig and Jenny Haselden, and showed great potential.

Hall of Fame

One of the most entertaining activities each year at Lawrence is the nominating of students to the Spartan Hall of Fame. Students are chosen who best fit individual categories. Some traditional areas are "Most Likely to Succeed" and "Most Memorable," but new categories are added every year to spice up the ballots.

Congratulations to all who won and enjoyed a taste of Spartan fame!

Power to the People

This year's ASB officers were Craig Tanner, president; Monica Van den Dool, vice president; Tami Kane, secretary; and Jennifer Siemon, treasurer. All of them had experience on Student Council before, so they were familiar with the way things worked. Once they settled into their new jobs, things began to take off for them. Their imagination, ingenuity, and sense of planning helped to guide the rest of Student Council and the students through the busy year. Enjoying a job is the best thing that one could ask for when taking it on. This was definitely the case for this year's officers. They were willing to work to prepare mixers with the help of other members of the council, to work on fundraisers, and lend ideas to the weekly meetings. It was a busy year for them, which made it go by quickly. It was very exciting for them to aid the Student Council and the students in helping the school to grow.

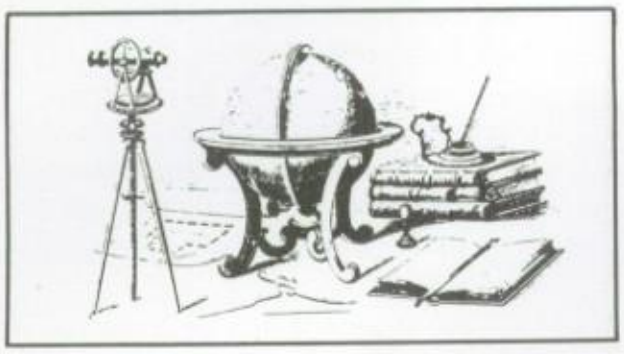
The Best and Getting Better



1985-1986 was the fifth year that the California Scholarship Federation (CSF) has been affiliated with Lawrence Academy. There were many members this year who joined this prestigious organization because of their outstanding achievements in scholarship, citizenship, and service.

National Honor Society (NHS) and National Junior Honor Society (NJHS) membership honors students with outstanding qualities in scholarship, leadership, and character. Members of these organizations participated in extracurricular activities such as field trips, school services, and fundraisers.

Congratulations to these special groups!

Voices Carry

The 1985-1986 Lawrence Academy choir performed another successful year of liturgical and popular songs. The absence of Choir Director Miss Lauren Prescott was felt deeply, but the leadership ability of Mrs. Kathy Kelley lead the choir to true harmony. Senior Deborah Pairis assisted Mrs. Kelley with her instrumental and vocal talents, trying to make the transition from one director to another smoother for everyone. The choir's talents and enthusiasm raised the level of school participation during mass and assemblies. Their outstanding voices were appreciated by all who had the pleasure of listening.

The theater arts department, under the direction of Mr. Brad Shurmantine, put on the tremendously successful play, "By the Skin of Our Teeth," in March. Cast and crew worked together closely for long hours to ensure an excellent performance. The theater arts class was active throughout the year, keeping their dramatic talents alive. Students performed improvisations, gave speeches, and did hundreds of stretching exercises to keep themselves in peak condition for the plays to come.

Much was accomplished throughout the 1985-1986 school year in the library. New equipment, books, and media were added to the library's expanding collection. New computer programming, shelving, and card catalog drawers were purchased.

The librarians once again flexed their muscles, providing their invaluable time and contributions to the educational well-being of the Lawerence Academy students. The library was also used as a center of rest and relaxation.

During the 1985-86 school year, the publications class really matured in size and production. This year the staff was under the capable leadership of Deborah Pairis (yearbook editor) and Richard Crawford (newspaper editor), and both editors proved excellent leaders.

The staff worked on layouts and news stories while listening to tunes by Dead or Alive and STRYPER. Most stories were typed into publications' new IBM PC, bought with last year's magazine profits.

Whether taking photos, designing pages, or writing EXPRESS stories or yearbook copy, the class showed creativity and talent.

Faculty Lends a Helping Hand

This academic year has been a busy and very successful one. No one is to be complimented more for this than the Lawrence Academy faculty.

The faculty has been very supportive of the students and the school. They have been caring and were always around to lend a hand or ear in time of need. They have tolerated more than is humanly possible. They have proven their strength in the school year of 1985-1986. The students appreciated the faculty for their help and encouragement.

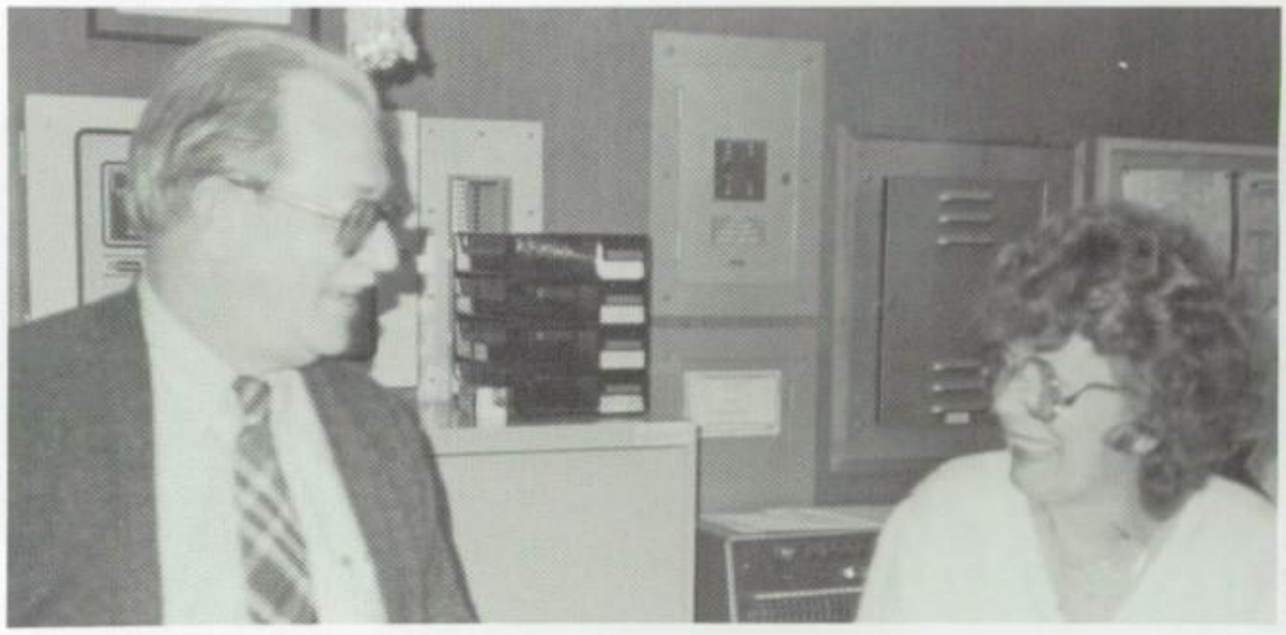
They Handle It!



This year's administration worked hard at balancing out all the school's needs with all the available funds. They kept the school running smoothly and efficiently with few problems. Mrs. Harrell kept discipline among the students as Dr. Kimball handled important school business. Overall, the year was a success, and Dr. Kimball was quoted as saying, "This was our best year ever!"

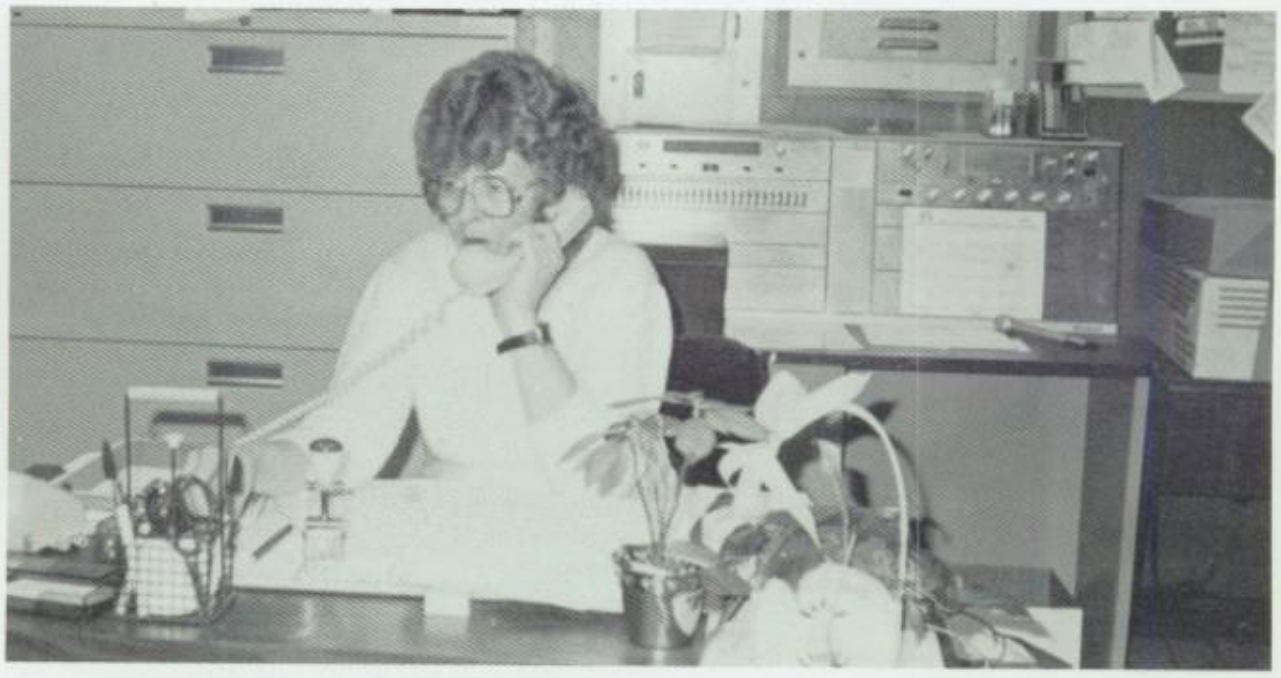
This year the office was run by a staff of three extremely warm and friendly women. When there was a question to be asked or a problem, they always gladly answered and helped. They were hardworking and well-organized. Their organization kept the office running smoothly. Thanks for doing such a great job!

Miss Jennifer Boatman



During the 1985-1986 school year, Head Custodian Hank Winn did an excellent job keeping our school looking great. Mr. Winn and his crew were always there and ready to repair, move, assemble or disassemble whatever necessary. Here's to Mr. Winn: thanks for another "nice looking" year at Lawrence!

Spiritual Matters

1985-86 was perhaps the best year ever for the Lawrence Academy Campus Ministry program. Under the guidance of Miss Lauren Prescott, this dedicated group of students planned liturgies and made notable changes in the morning prayers and mass.

Campus Ministry was also responsible for the very successful Second Annual Community Halloween Party, which included everything from bags of candy and a magic piranha to a terrifying haunted house.

In later months, Campus Ministry became involved in the Independent Aging Program. Students volunteered their time and energy to make the elderly in our community feel loved and appreciated.

Twenty regular members who represented every class in the high school helped to make this the best year ever. Projects for the future are already being discussed, and the life of the program continues to be strong and positive.

As The World Turns

The year 1985-1986 was a year noteworthy for entertainment that added variety and for world events that changed the course of history. In entertainment, the music industry gave us chart-topping solo artists Madonna and Bruce Springsteen, who played sold-out tours around the world. It also brought new talents such as Tears For Fears and an album by veteran rockers Dire Straits. Bob Geldof, creator of Band Aid, organized Live Aid, an all-day concert with sixty-one bands and singers who performed to raise money for the famine relief project. The success of Live Aid spawned Farm Aid and Artists United Against Apartheid, who released "Sun City."

Organizations were formed to work at legislation concerning the censorship of suggestive lyrics in albums. This controversial issue questioned the constitutionality of such a motion. Most importantly, it shed light on the issue of who has the right to decide what music is appropriate for young listeners.

Movies such as "Back to The Future," in which a teenager travels into the past to meet his parents, scored big at the box office. Broadway's longest running play, "A Chorus Line," was made into a major motion picture. Films "Rambo" and "Rocky IV," both starring Sylvester Stallone, symbolized the renewing of American strength.

In the world of sports, Pete Rose broke Ty Cobb's record for the most base hits, and the Chicago Bears beat the New England Patriots in Super Bowl XX. Lynette Woodard scored big when she was chosen as the first female Harlem Globetrotter.

Natural disasters abounded. An earthquake in Mexico destroyed Mexico City and left thousands of people dead or injured. Americans rushed to the aid of the injured and grieving. Later, a volcano in Colombia caused even more damage and tears.

On January 28, the launch of the first teacher into space ended in tragedy as the space shuttle CHALLENGER exploded 72 seconds into launch, killing teacher Christy McAullife and six other astronauts on board. Reacting to the worst space disaster in history, Ronald Reagan postponed his State of the Union Address. In a message addressed to all Americans, Reagan said of the tragedy that, "Pain is a part of success . . . and the future belongs not to the faint-hearted, but to the brave . . . "

This year proved successful in politics as well. Soviet Union leader Mikhail Gorbachev met and talked with President Reagan in the Geneva Summit. Meetings such as this are what give us all hope for a peaceful future.

The year 1985-1986 will be remembered as a year of great joy and also great pain. Through the good and the bad, we held onto a wish for lasting peace throughout the world.

1. Forest fires swept California, raging out of control across the state.
2. President Reagan and Soviet Premier Gorbachev met at the first summit in ten years.
3. Actor Rock Hudson fell victim to AIDS, the deadly disease that caused controversy and concern.
4. Halley's comet made its once-every-76-year sweep through our solar system.
5. Concerned parents caused controversy over the issue of censorship of rock lyrics, raising the question of record labeling for content.
6. Tragedy struck and the nation mourned when the space shuttle exploded minutes after blastoff, killing all aboard.
7. Terrorism reached new heights in 1985 with numerous hijackings and deaths.
8. South Africa's lack of social justice inspired many to protest against apartheid.
9. A true love story emerged when Felipe Garza donated his heart to Donna Ashlock, who suffered from a serious heart ailment, before his death.
10. Philip Michael Thomas and Don Johnson captured the hearts of millions in their smash TV series "Miami Vice."

1. Bruce Springsteen's world tour topped the charts and made him an American hero.
2. Bishop Tutu spent 1985-86 helping the oppressed and campaigning strongly against apartheid.
3. Bill Cosby's wonderful sense of humor led him to revitalize the sitcom and to become America's favorite television personality.
4. Libyan leader Kaddafi posed a threat to the United States.
5. The tragic earthquake in Mexico City killed thousands and left much of the city in ruins.
6. Sylvester Stallone made yet another "Rocky" movie, grossing millions at the box office.
7. Pete Rose broke Ty Cobb's hitting record.
8. Singers from the famous Band-Aid concert joined with others in presenting "Live Aid," a concert to raise money for Ethiopia.
9. William "The Refrigerator" Perry became a football legend playing for the Chicago Bears, winners of Super Bowl XX.
10. Lady Liberty celebrated her 100th birth-

Words alone cannot describe my thanks for all of you. You have filled my senior year with more love and true friendship than I can remember.

During my time
of sadness,
You did more than care.
Wherever my eyes rested,
Always a friend was there.
Your kind words of support and friendship
Carried me through the day
I will always love and remember you
For showing me the way.

Love,
Deborah Pairis

A friend is one to whom one may pour out all the contents of one's heart—chaff and grain together—knowing that the gentlest of hands will take and sift it, keep what is worth keeping, and with the breath of kindness, blow the rest away.

JO ELLE,

Together we have survived falling off a ten-speed, shopping, long hours working on Humanities, living thru "Best Friends," losing your contacts on the second day, having Mono, our Miss U.S. Teen trip, curfew, the telephone, dreadful trips to Mexico, first love, first job, first car, and getting lost on the way home from Fremont.

Being able to talk about EVERYTHING and laughing about MOST things has been the best part of our relationship.

Hello, Hello, Hello, were the Mc Donalds happy meal!
I hope you have a super summer and I also hope that you have a super summer. I have had fun using your room for S.F. Meetings.
I was ~~groovier~~ groovy! I think I look forward to the Studio Arts class next year.
I hope you have a super summer. Watch out for the explosives on your cart. Don't forget to go to the Band or you will have Dancing checks. See alot of movies and Dont get sun fried and have a super summer.

Yours truly,

STAY DEMENTED!

M. Nolan

Mrs. Nolan,

You are a really super teacher. Have a nice summer. You should teach religion for a long time. Everyone will want you too. Well have a nice summer again and I will see you next year on a visit here. I will never have a religion teacher like you again. I am not kidding. Well you should go to the beach over the summer.

M. Nolan

Dear M. Nolan,

Have a good summer.
I will really miss you.
I will come back to the Scince Fiction club.
Ill try anyway. We have had many good times together and hope to see you again. Have a good summer!
